“If you think you can or you think you can't - you are always right!”

“That sounds strange.” Some of you may say.

But when you think about it – you realize it is 100% true.

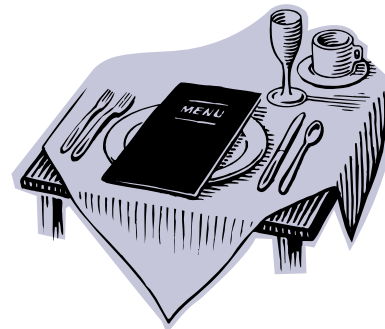

The basic concept is that when you think, when you believe that something is impossible for you, you alone set your limits and that is how you condemn yourself to failure.

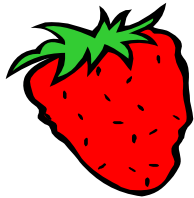

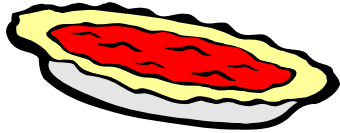

Think about a TOEFL score of 110, for example. Now I want you to consider achieving such score at the end of our course. You do not need to be so good now. If you thought you could do this now, you would not be attending this course, right?

I think the reason you are here is because you believe you can do better on your TOEFL test after this course. And I have some good news for you: Yes, you really can!

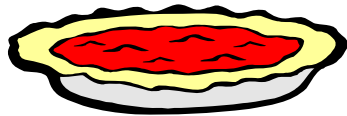

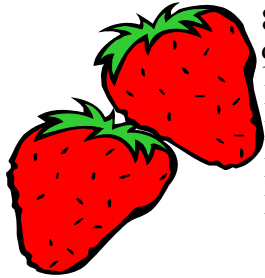

Here is the tasty menu:
